

Wrongful Death Actions in the State of North Carolina

No amount of money can adequately compensate a family for the tragic loss of a loved one. The best that our legal system can do is to provide an avenue for the loved one's family to recover for the financial losses caused by his death. An attorney at this time shields the family from many of the unwanted and bothersome headaches associated with this tragedy, particularly throughout the grieving process.

Wrongful Death Actions in North Carolina arise in many different ways, but the most common type of these incidents are from motor vehicle collisions, on the job accidents, and medical malpractice.

Whenever a person dies by the wrongful act of another, his family members with the help of their attorney set up an estate for the loved one, appoint an administrator, and then bring an action for the wrongful death to recover any and all damages, including any punitive damages, which may be available as part of their claim.

This area of law is very complicated and an attorney experienced in civil litigation is essential to ensure that the maximum financial recovery for the loved one's family is obtained.

I have handled numerous Wrongful Death Actions since 1982 and have over 30 years of legal experience in civil litigation. My law firm does not charge any fee to discuss the complete process to pursue your claim. We take these cases on a contingent fee basis for your convenience. This means that we do not earn a fee to assist the estate, unless it receives a financial award for the loss of your loved one.

Please consider my willingness to advise your family at an appropriate and convenient time about setting up an estate, as well as any potential claims which may be made on behalf of the family. You may contact me by phone at (910) 551-1926, or by email at: <mailto:www.noblelegalservices.com>, for a free consultation without obligation.
